Student work

This piece shows my grandmother's face and the fields in which she worked throughout her whole life and even now.

In the tall apartment building, only one window is a light shade of pink because it represents my grandma's house. No matter how hard she worked in the fields, she always found time to clean her house and take care of her children.

I admire her because of her commitment to farming and taking care of the people that are important to her even during hard times. My grandma lived in Ukraine when the Nazis took over Europe.

My family and I were going to Yellowstone and we saw a Buffalo. It was a very cool experience.

My piece is an abstract of my great-grandparents looking over us. My project demonstrates my father's side of the family and the origination of it protecting the later generations.
